

List of ISEE Prep and Review Companies

We do not make any endorsement or recommendation of one particular tutor or prep class over another. Important considerations include cost, location, training, and experience of the tutor, as well as the level of individualization that the program may offer. Improvement in test scores depends on numerous factors including a student's motivation, areas of strength and needed improvement, and the nature of the test itself. In short, there are no guarantees a student who is tutored will see significant improvement in his/her scores.
